Treasurer

Sara Whittinghill, Hazard, junior in the College of Agriculture, was chosen as president of the University Y. W. C. A. for next year, in the annual election of officers, held from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Thursday, March 30, in the Administration building. Other officers who were elected were Mary Carolyn Terrell, vice-president; Mildred Holmes, secretary, and Clara Margaret Fort, who was re-elected treasurer.

The new officers will be presented formally at the annual W. A. C. banquet which will be held April 10. Members of the Y. W. C. A. for next year will be selected at a meeting of the newly elected officers within the next two weeks.

Voting for the officers was conducted by members of the senior cabinet and names of those casting ballots were checked against a list of Y. W. C. A. members. Other nominees for officers were Alice Lang for vice-president; and Bettie Boyd and Sue Irvin, for secretary.

The president-elect, Sara Whittinghill, was transferred last September from Western State Teachers college. She is president of Boyd hall, a pledge to Phi Beta, a member of the Philharmonic orchestra and the Girls Glee club, and has served as chairman of the program committee on the Y. W. C. A. senior cabinet.

The newly-elected vice-president, Mary Carolyn Terrell, is a member of the Sophomore commission, Pitkin club, a pledge to Phi Beta, a member of Cwens, a member of Su-Ky, and a member of the Kernel staff, and is a sophomore in the Arts and Sciences college.

Mildred Holmes, who was chosen as secretary, is a member of the sophomore commission, Pitkin club, an R. O. T. C. sponsor, a member of Cwens, a Stroller eligible, a Su-Ky try-out, and has served on the staff and as usher at the Guignol theater. She is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Clara Margaret Fort, who was re-elected to the position of treasurer, is president of the Women's Athletic association, a member of the Women's Administration council, a member of the Boyd hall council. She is from Frankfort, and is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Kampus
Kernels

The lone and sufficient reason for writing a lead paragraph on Kampus Kernels is to insert some pabulum of interest to the student body so that they will read the remainder of the column or at least give it a cursory glance. If you belong to something, the announcement of its meeting will appear in this column. If you don't belong to anything, read it even more avidly; it will give the impression that you DO belong to something.

According to Ralph Johnson, we owe Jimmie Fahey an apology, and a dry hanky. Johnson tells us we reduced him to tears by saying that G. L. Cruikshank is the Stroller stage manager. Jimmie says HE is. I reckon he is then. It really matters not who is, so long as it isn't us...You're welcome, Hugh.

There will be an important meeting of Chi Delta Phi at 4 p. m. Monday in Room 200, McVey hall. All members are urged to be present.

There will be an important meeting of Lamp and Cross at 7:15 p. m. Monday, April 3 at the Phi Sigma Kappa house.

The Block and Bridge Club will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Agriculture building. New members will be selected and all members are urged to be present.

The executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni association will meet at 8:30 p. m. Monday, April 3, at the home of Dr. G. Davis Buckner. This is the regular monthly business meeting of the club.

Nancy Duke Lewis' Vocational Guidance group will meet at 3 p. m. Friday, March 31, in the Women's building.

Miss Horsfield's group will meet at 4 p. m. Friday, March 31, in the Women's building.

Margaret Tuttle in Charge;
Issues Request For Card Gifts

More than 5,500 picture postcards from all over the world are included in the collection now being assembled by the library under the direction of Miss Margaret Tuttle. Miss Tuttle has requested that all students who have cards which they would be willing to contribute, bring them to any of the library desks as soon as possible.

Many of the leading libraries of the country possess postcard collections, but this is the first to be assembled in Lexington. The uses of such a collection to a library are manifold. It is useful from a geographical standpoint, giving as it does pictures of all parts of the world, representing scenery, customs and costumes of the people. The art postcards, reproductions of famous paintings, murals, etc., of which there are many in the collection, are valuable for the use of art classes as well as general use of the people. Many of the cards give pictures of historic spots and are thus useful from a historical standpoint. Some public libraries use the postcard collection largely as a guide to those who are planning trips abroad.

The library collection now includes pictures from all the countries of Europe, with especially large and complete collections of Italian and Spanish cards. The art cards from Italy are especially noteworthy, being in many cases excellent reproductions of famous paintings and sculptures. Of special historical interest are the cards from England, for this section are included large numbers of pictures from the homes of Shakespeare and Scott and other famous literary figures, as well as of Westminster abbey, Stirling and Warwick castles and Gibraltar. An unusual part of the collection is the set of cards from Tangiers and Morocco.

Besides the cards from foreign countries, the collection includes a large number of excellent pictures from all over the United States. This part gives reproductions of plates from the Chicago Art Institute, especially pictures of the sculptures of Loreda Taft; scenes from the homes of famous Americans; pictures of the campuses and buildings of all the leading colleges of the country; and a collection of pictures of the country's largest libraries. The Kentucky group includes some rare and old cards now out of print and impossible to procure except from private sources.

The cards comprising the collection to date have been received from a number of different sources. The Hispanic society was responsible for 544 cards representing the South American and Central American countries. In Lexington the largest contributions were from President and Mrs. McVey, Miss Margaret I. King, Mrs. Ralph N. Maxson, and from the letter of Anna J. Hamilton, former dean of women.

The library is desirous of urging the students to contribute what they can to this collection, as even the smallest contributions are acceptable and help to complete the usefulness of the collection. Some samples of the cards included in it will be on display in the downstairs lobby of the library today.

Opinions Listed
By Students In
Forum Meeting

An enumeration of opinions as to why people come to college included such points as financial gain, continuation of high school work, professional training, social distinction, desire for learning, and the working out of a destiny, according to a voicing of student opinion at the second meeting of the Student Forum, held from 7:30 until 8:30 p. m., Tuesday, March 28, in Patterson hall.

In a brief preliminary talk, preceding the student discussion, Prof. Edward Newbury, who was chairman in charge of the discussion, declared that education was principally a compromise between the opinions on education expressed by parents, students and academic men, and these people who furnish money for the institutions. He pointed out that most educators are not sure exactly for what we are educating, that if we knew the desired result we would know more exactly how our university systems should be organized.

An announcement of the plans for the third meeting of the forum was made by Lois Neal, who introduced the speaker. The third discussion, which will be held at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, April 4, in Patterson hall, will be on the subject, "College Students and the Present Economic Crisis." The leader will be Dr. Esther Cole, political science department.

Presentation

The story of the romance, "Death Takes a Holiday," which will open Monday night at the Guignol theater for a week's run, is a bizarrely unusual. Nothing noticeably similar to it has ever been written, and it is truly modern. The fact that the story is so unusual is probably the cause of the play having been such a success in New York recently.

"Death" is personified and literally "takes a holiday." Taking human form, he decides that during his holiday there is to be no death of any kind. There will be no fatal accidents, no murders, of any kind either animal, human, or in nature. He tries to gain admittance to the house of Duke Lambert, but this he cannot do, for everything he touches, he kills. In an agreement between "The Shadow" and Duke Lambert, it is agreed that he may stay in the house for three days, since the Shadow had done a great favor for the Duke. Mysterious happenings, unusual circumstances—all this is sure to cause plenty of trouble and thrills for the audience to witness.

What happens? What doesn't happen? The plot and the dramatic circumstances surrounding the play are practically impossible to write and sustain the proper effect which accompanies the entire production. With Doctor Brady playing the part of The Shadow to perfection and Ruth Welch playing the ingenue to Woodson Knight's juvenile the remainder of the cast is presented in a truly pleasing and smooth manner.

Senior Engineers
Inspect Dix Dam

Seniors in the Mechanical engineering college, who went to Dix River dam Wednesday afternoon on an inspection tour of the Dix project were forced to turn the inspection tour into a class in auto repairing before they could return home.

The class traveled to Dix Dam in automobiles and, after inspecting the plant, made ready to return to Lexington. But in the absence of the engineers the cars in some mysterious, uneasy fashion developed uncertain chronic disorders. After "fiddling" around for some time one of the master-mind engineers discovered that someone had "borrowed" a few spark plugs and distributor caps.

After a delay of 30 minutes the spark plugs and distributor caps were found and the trip to Lexington began.

AGRICULTURE SENIORS

RESPONSE TO REQUESTS

Because of the numerous requests for the improvement of personal adjustment to life situations which have been coming to the department of psychology at the University, this department has decided to establish a new service to meet this need. The new Personality Development service will be available without cost to students of the University and to the various social agencies and school authorities.

The department has in mind a broader service than it has hitherto been able to offer through the Psychological clinic and the Personnel bureau. This will be intended primarily for the usual children and adults, and not merely for problem cases, which have been handled by its Psychological clinic for the past 10 years. This service will include questions of the improvement of personality, vocational guidance, mental well being, special training and the various problems which are undertaken by personnel officers in the public schools or in business and industry.

Four hours are to be set aside each week for interviewing those who care to consult the department. These hours are from 3 to 5 p. m. on Tuesdays and 10 to 12 a. m. on Saturdays. Appointments must be made in advance by calling at the office of the department or by telephoning No. 84 on the University exchange. This enlargement of the regular service has been made possible by the cooperation of a number of graduate students who have been fitting themselves to be technical assistants in this work. Besides Dr. J. B. Miner, Dr. G. B. Dimmick, who has charge of instruction in the diagnosis of personality development, Dr. Henry Beaumont, executive secretary of the Personnel bureau and Dr. Martin M. White, will give some time to the new service.

Hardwick Leads
In Round Robin
Golf Play at U. K.

Fred Hardwick is leading in the University golf round robin tournament being played to determine the members of the varsity golf team for the coming season. John Haggard and Evan Settle, although they have both lost one game each in the tournament, are almost sure of a place on the varsity team. The fourth member will be picked from the following candidates out for the team: J. W. Steele, John Davis, Billy Meredith, and William Brown.

There are about ten men out for the freshman golf team. Of these, Jack McInnes, J. S. Irvine, Louis Hillenmeyer, Nathan Elliott and William Brown seem to be leading contenders.

The varsity team has two games with the University of Cincinnati, and two with Eastern college. Two games are tentative with Dayton university and with the University of Louisville.

First Battalion

All cadets of companies A, B, and C, are expected to be present unless they have an excuse approved by the military department.

The parade will form at 4:05 p. m. Company sponsors are expected to be stationed by the guidon of their respective company when the parade is formed. The parade will begin at 4:10 p. m.

The guidons of the companies will be stationed at the northeast corner of the drill ground, where the companies will form for the parade. Company B has been appointed color guard of the first battalion. Cadets will wear regulation blouses with white shirts.

Health Seminar

R. S. Allen, professor in zoology department, addressed the members of the health seminar at 4 p. m. March 28 on the fourth floor of the University library.

Professor Allen told of a device whereby the volume of blood in an animal's body could be quickly determined and tested with accuracy. It was found that the smaller the animal the more accurate was the formula. He also told that the amount of blood in the human body can be determined by multiplying the weight of the individual by four.

April 2

Attendees of the regular Sunday afternoon musicales will hear Harry Farbmán, American violinist, on April 2, playing a return engagement at the University. This program had been previously planned for March 9, but was postponed because of the Glee club presentation at that date.

Mr. Farbmán appeared on the vesper program two years ago. He is one of the few artists who have been asked for a second presentation.

A few years ago he toured South America where he was warmly received. From there he journeyed to Europe, and then back to his native country.

The artist has toured throughout America and critics from coast to coast laud his musical presentations. In Rio de Janeiro he was acclaimed "the greatest violinist that has appeared in this capital in the last 15 years." New York publications class him as "an extremely talented violinist," with "a tone of fine quality, mobile technique, and a refined musical taste."

Harry and Arthur Cubrisson, Chicago, are sponsoring the appearances of the artist.

Campus Affairs

Approximately 50 Independents of the campus heard Prof. W. R. Sutherland in an address Wednesday night at a meeting held in the reception room of Bradley hall. Harry Reano, acting president of the organization, presided at the meeting, and Robert Jenett introduced the speaker.

Professor Sutherland's address dealt with various methods by which the organization might gain a better foothold in affairs of the campus. In offering suggestions, he mentioned several tactics practiced by students of an Eastern University several years ago.

The speaker's outstanding advice offering was that of presenting a united front, a phrase that in every sense suggests co-operation. Preceding the address, business matters were discussed by the group. These matters related to selecting candidates for the best dressed man of the campus and the coming May Queen election. The names of all candidates were withheld from publication.

WILL BE 9 TO 1 DANCE

Crowning of Mary Alice Palmer, students' choice for Prom Queen, will be the outstanding feature of the annual social affair to be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. tonight in the Alumni gym. Pledging of Lances, junior honorary fraternity also will be included in the program.

Palmer was victor by a vast majority in the election held last week. Tonight she will be presented formally in a pompous ceremony to the student body. The usual custom of the president of the junior class escorting the Queen to the throne has been abandoned, as has the throne.

She will walk under a canopy of drawn sabers of Scabbard and Blade members to her position in front of Capt. Clyde Grady, who will place the crown upon her head and present her to the student body. She will be presented also at this time with a bouquet of flowers. The continuation of the dance will immediately follow the ceremony.

Lances will hold its pledging preceding the crowning of the Queen. The following will be pledged:

Henry C. McCown, Miami Beach, Fla.; Jack Faunce, New York City; John Kincheloe, Hardingsburg; Oscar Reuter, Louisville; Rice Smith, Maysfield; Bill Conley, Carlisle; Al Elcock, Louisville; James Curtis, Springfield; Everett Beers, Winchester; Bill Dawson, Covington; John Geyer, Elkhart, Ind.; and Billy King, Bill Greathouse, Ralph Salyers, Vernon Nugent, and Waller Hunt, Lexington.

This year each junior will receive one date bid and two stag bids to the dance, while each senior will receive one date bid. These bids are obtainable at the University post office.

Gordon Robinson and his orchestra have been engaged by the committee in charge of arrangements to play for the dance. The orchestra has played for several important school functions in the North and East.

Chaperones for the evening are Dean Sarah Blanding, Dean and Mrs. C. R. Melcher, Dean and Mrs. W. S. Taylor, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Grady, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Mrs. Bullard Luxon, Miss Lettie Hoover, and Mrs. Hagan.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Bentley Sampson, chairman; Dorothy Whitsett, George Vogel, Bill Hummer, and Ralph Edwards.

Convention

The tenth triennial convention of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, and the fifteenth annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business will be held April 27, 28, and 29 in Lexington. Prof. Robson D. McIntyre, who was a delegate to the ninth convention that met April, 1930, in Chicago, extended the invitation of the University to the convention, and Dean Edward Wiest extended the same invitation to the association when attending its meeting on March, 1931, in New Orleans.

Although meeting together, the association and convention will have no conflicting sessions. Thirty-six deans and five professors, the convention's delegates from the 41 chapters will also represent 41 of the 46 institutions holding membership in the association.

In the Phoenix hotel, headquarters for both the association and the fraternity, the tenth convention will be called to order at 3 p. m., Thursday, April 27 for reports, proposals, and discussions. The convention dinner will be held Thursday evening.

A most enjoyable program is being arranged, including an address by Prof. Clyde Runkles of Harvard Business school. President Marsh of the association has prepared an excellent two-day program with eight or more papers on current topics of interest in education, economics, finance, and industry, by some of the deans, professors, and industrial leaders of the association.

THEIR BROTHER'S KEEPER

Invariably, at one time or another during the school year, the question is brought up as to the fairness of the system which allows students to grade papers for their professors. This criticism is not directed at University approved part-time student instructors in regular class room work or laboratories. It is, however, the intention of this editorial to point out the injustice of student graders in some instances.

A professor, in the first place, should not assign so heavy an impost that he might not be able to do the work himself. That is a common error among college teachers. As a result the instructor must seek an assistant. Generally, he selects some former student who has had the course and who is desirous of earning a little money on the side or of gaining some experience in grading.

Human nature is a strange mixture of idiosyncrasies. There are numerous occasions when human nature is fickle to the extent that it takes advantage of the positions in which it is placed. Using students to grade the papers of other students is putting too much of a temptation in the way of personalities. So much depends on individual honesty, yet the ties of friendship and rifts of unfriendliness often prove too great a strain on even the most open-minded students who are placed in a position to pass judgement on the work of their colleagues.

Professors should guard against giving work to an excessive degree which necessitates obtaining the assistance of student graders who, in reality, may not be on a par with those fellow students whose papers they have the privilege of marking "passing" or "failing."

EDUCATIONAL BULLETIN

Many startling facts are revealed in the March issue of the bulletin, published by the state department of education, concerning the status of education and educational institutions in Kentucky. In 1932, after the defects in the school system in the state became apparent to many citizens, the General Assembly created the present commission "to make a thorough study of public education in Kentucky, and to recommend a revision of the school laws." Pres. Frank L. McVey is a member of this commission which is headed by the Hon. James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction.

According to this bulletin, Kentucky's educational rank, in comparison to that of other states, has not advanced in 20 years! It still ranks about fortieth among the states. The grand old state, with its traditions, sentiment, and world renown for its achievements in agriculture, its thoroughbred horses and its balmy climate, has been going backward in respect to education. The proportion of State revenue going to education has decreased from 37.8 per cent in 1916 to 15.8 per cent in 1929! Moreover, the ratio of the total cost of education in Kentucky contributed to by both local support and state revenue, to all state and local taxes collected, declined from 44.67 per cent in 1924 to 37.71 per cent in 1930. The tax money going to education had decreased considerably in recent years.

Kentucky, so proud of its development of the hardy pioneer stock, who contributed their lives to the cause of independence in our early history, is depriving its boys and girls of the educational and cultural opportunities given to children in other states. Kentucky, with its vast natural resources, its temperate climate, its abundant source of raw materials is taking from its boys and girls their natural heritage, handed down to them by their ancestors, who fought valiantly against many hardships, to make the "dark and bloody hunting ground" a fit place for their off-springs. There are many counties in Kentucky where the opportunity for education can scarcely be said to exist. Every child in the state should be given equal opportunity for the advantages of education.

This vast difference in the educational policy of one county in comparison to another is due, doubtless, to the large number of counties contained in the state. If the number of these counties was materially reduced, with the resultant advantages of combined resources and taxes of several counties, education certainly would be given stimulus in these backward regions. The proposed combination of counties surely will be given thoughtful consideration by the people of the state when the evident seriousness of this situation strikes home.

There are too many school districts in Kentucky today to allow for efficient methods of education. The state is behind in its training of teachers, with a lack of libraries and educational materials outstanding among the defects in its school system. The appointing of the educational commission was needed and was a most wise move. In addition to Mr. Richmond and President McVey, other prominent Kentuckians were named on the commission, including faculty members of the University. Kentucky looks to these citizens to seek out and remedy the deficiency in its educational set-up. The people of the state should not remain inactive while the schools become less efficient due to lack of co-operation on their part. The boys and girls of today, the Christian citizens and leaders of tomorrow, must not be denied the happiness brought about by education. The commission faces a perplexing problem. May the spirit of the pioneers, who willingly gave their life blood for Kentucky, guide its noble efforts!

JEST AMONG US

According to the radio, the shortest announcement seems to be, "It's a boy." But the Jester thinks of one that is shorter and means twice as much, "It's twins."

The hitch-hikers song—"Thumb! of These Days."

Speaking of hitch-hikers, you might try asking one on what occasion he made the best time. You can take it from the Jester that it will be, "Going to Louisville last Derby day."

It seems that Fyiesig Harry Emmerich, one of Kentucky's few Phi Beta Kappa athletes, while en route to a movie hastily dropped some letters he had to mail into what he thought was a mail box...Maybe you have guessed the rest... "Sportin' Harry" spent the next few minutes fishing his letters from the bottom of a gray box, with a swinging door, marked "Waste."

Joseph "Fyre-dome" (alias "Fyre-lip") Mills continues with his publicity campaign...He won a quarter on a bet "that he would shave his mustache as no one knew it was there"...He tried it, but cut his face and had to postpone the operation.

Personal nominations for a few of the better dressed eds and eds...Pyekap Tommy Conroy, Chio Virginia Rubel, Sigmakye Ray Alford, Chio Martha Lowry, Alfasig Gordon Burns, and Sigmakye Paul Williams.

Alfasig Gordon Burns, true-love of Triangle Sid Musselman, attending Pershing Rifle drill the other afternoon to see her "Doc" put the boys through their maneuvers.

Speaking of Pershing Rifles...those crack drill soldiers have a competitor these days...there is a squad which drills behind closed doors and has acquired the name of "Perkins Rifles"...it is composed of delinquent students and is drilled by Sergeant Perkins.

Tis' rumored around the campus that the Kay's will have Jan Garber here for their spring dance, which is scheduled for April 8.

Our friends, the Triangles, attempted to revive an old Southern custom at their house dance Saturday night...neighbors reported that they were whooping it up in a grand old "circle dance."

Chios Mary Andrews Person and Mary Woodbridge spent some time last Sunday afternoon in a vain attempt to impersonate Buster Crabbe, the Sigmakye Olympic swimmer, who recently played in "The King of the Jungle"...While passing the Chio mansion one could hear the repeated remarks of "Im Crabbe" accompanied by guttural sounds supposed to be made by the Jungle King.

Kahpa "Cook" Goodson was "taken for a ride" Wednesday by several members of the Kay chapter...the method of transportation was the elevator in McVey hall...Cook emerged looking very "mussed"...

The geology department has begun its spring field trips...after receiving specific instructions to report dressed for the occasion in boots and riding pants, Delazeta Margaret Tartar appeared in silk stockings and high heeled shoes...during the trip she attempted to jump across a small stream...lost her shoes, landed ankle deep in mud.

Dean Boyd's secretaries should be made Kentucky Colonels for the additional labors...many students trek to that office lately to obtain statements of eligibility to vote for the Junior Prom queen, to obtain Prom tickets, and for various petitions.

"The Rose Girl of the Week" happens to be Kahpa Bettie Boyd who has appeared on the campus two days in succession with a large pink rose.

Delmar Adams, arch sports writer, began his speech in public speaking class with the ambiguous statement, "Now you take women—regardless of any sex."

Edward O'Bryan Kelly Is the Name

Campus Cop Describes Traffic and Parking Situations
As They Appear to Him

By BEN TAYLOR

Imagine the surprise received by the writer upon driving to school at 9 o'clock the other morning and not finding the law-enforcing individual of the University standing in one of the restricted areas with his whistle in his mouth! Try to imagine further, if you please, the writer wandering into McVey hall and finding Mr. Kelly posing while his silhouette was being preserved with a scissors and black paper by an artist in the book store.

All of these incidents were too much, so your correspondent thinking it was about time to interview the uniformed individual, promptly told him to start talking.

"Edward O'Bryan Kelly is the name," said he after a somewhat trying moment upon the part of the reporter in order to get him to tell what "O" in his name stood for. (Officer Kelly is 43 years old, hails from Somerset, and has been employed by the University since 1926.) "My job is traffic director, and just all round policeman here. I'm paid by the University, and I am a City Policeman dispatched to the University."

"What? Well, do you want me to start from the beginning of my life? Humph! My first job was with a railroad company, then with the American Bridge company, then—oh, all right, I'll wait until you catch up. After that last job I was an engineer with a gas company; yes, I said an engineer."

Think that was about all the jobs one man might be able to acquire in so short a time, I had the second question on the tip of my tongue, but Officer Kelly kept on talking.

"And after that I took up farming." Here, he could not help smiling; for it was a big jump for him as well as for me—from an engineer in a gas company to a farmer. "But this time the war came on and I was a soldier—What? Just put 'soldier' down there on that piece of paper. Then I took up carpenter work, and then I came to the University."

"Have you ever arrested anyone who disobeyed University rules which are under your department, and if so, what did you do with him?"

"Sure, I should say I have. What did I do with him? Why I took him down to police court—that is, I turned him over to the city boys, and they took him down, humph! Thinking that now we were getting somewhere I probed him further:

Let's Dream Again
Some fellows wake up too late and find their dream girls have made nightmares of them—with long ears.

Not a Bank
An artist friend among my pals I number tenderly
Until she up and tries
To "draw" on me.

Yeah, We Understand
Spring on the campus was officially opened Wednesday afternoon. The answer—a boy and a girl were seen "studying" in the Botanical garden.

Yeew-uh!
There is something about Long Island which is causing several fellows to "long" for it. Maybe it's the weather. Oh yeah!

A Long One, Perhaps
There is something cock-eyed about the publicity on the Guignol's next production. Someone told us, "Death Takes a Holiday" will simply kill you."

"What has been your most exciting arrest?"
"Aw heck, there hasn't been any. They just come right along with me without any trouble 'till—shoot, most exciting arrest!"

"Wal, can't say that I have much trouble with students or faculty for that matter when it comes to parking cars. Maybe one or two faculty give me a little trouble. As far as what the hardest days for me are in regards to tryin' to keep traffic runnin' proper, I reckon Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays are the hardest days, and I'm not in favor of doin' away with students parkin' their cars on the campus. It would be too big a problem for the city—I mean that it would just cause the city more trouble."

"Students are going to park their cars somewhere when they come to school; nobuddy's goin' to stop 'em. But I tell you one thing—students should be allowed to park their cars in the Neville hall area, and they should combine that restricted area together with the White hall area—that's enough room for the faculty cars."

"There ought to be a student as well as the faculty registration of cars, 'cause lots o' times people park their cars here and say they're faculty when they know darn well they aren't. An' another thing: It's a lot of trouble to have to go down and look up who owns a car if you want to find out because he's parked wrong or something."

He tapped his newly told silhouettes on the desk and waited for the next question.

"Is the use of that whistle your own idea?"
"Yep, that my own idea. Y' see it saves me a hollerin' at 'em, and they'll pay more 'tention to a whistle than to a yell. Uh huh, it's just been this year that they gave me my uniform."

"Well, Mr. Kelly, I have just one more question to ask you: Will the new President get us out of the recent financial situation, do you think?"

"Why not?"

"All right, all right—that's all I wanted to know."

"He can't fail to do it if he has the cooperation of the people—"

"Yes sir, I just wanted to know your opinion on the matter—that was all."

So I took my leave of Mr. Kelly being just a little afraid, that he would want to keep on talking about the matter of that last question—well, I'll know better next time when I ask my subject a group of questions.

A'ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

By JOAN CARIGAN

Men who are successful at being "devils with the ladies" have always been the envy of other men. Even men who won't admit it secretly yearn for conquests with the fair sex.

"The Great Jasper," envied by all men because all women loved him, is Richard Dix's newest screen role and the feature attraction today and tomorrow at the Kentucky theater. Vera Engels and Edna May Oliver are featured. It is an adaptation of Fulton Oursler's novel, directed by J. Walter Ruben, and produced by RKO-Radio picture.

The birth, education, and success of a big Broadway musical comedy makes the theme of one of Warner Brothers' leading numbers of the season, "42nd Street," which opens Sunday for a week's run at the Strand theater. Being the first backstage story of its kind for a long time, being superlatively well done, it is like getting back to a good cut of hot roast beef after a diet of cottage cheese and pineapple. It is filling—eysfully and carefully.

In February, an anonymous novel entitled "Gabriel Over the White House," was published. Almost overnight the book became a best seller. The story deals with a man elected to the Presidency and takes him through the four years from the moment he takes the oath of office. It takes him as a typical jovial, bluffing, politician full of platitudes and little action, through a seething hodgepodge of achievement such we all like to imagine a President's.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer made it into a picture with Walter Huston as the president, with Franchot Tone, Karen Morley, and Dickie Moore in the supporting cast. "Gabriel Over the White House," opens Sunday at the Ben Ali. Gregory La Cava directed.

Mildred Harris Chaplin (Mrs. Charlie Chaplin), famous stage and screen star, will appear in person at the performances Sunday through Wednesday, at the Kentucky theater. On the Kentucky screen will be the Fox film, "Humanity."

Boots Mallory, who scored so pronounced a success in her first film, "Handle with Care," and Alexander Kirkland, who was widely acclaimed for his performance in "Strange Interlude," compose the latest screen team.

SILVER

Slowly, silently, now the moon
Walks the night in her silver shoon;
This way, and that, she peers and sees
Silver fruit upon silver trees:
One by one the casements catch
Her beams beneath the silvery latch:
Couched in his kennel, like a log,
With paws of silver sleeps the dog:
From their shadowy cote the white
breasts peep
Of doves in a silver-feathered sleep;
A harvest mouse goes scampering by,
With silver claws, and a silver eye;
And moveless fish in the water gleam,
By silver reeds in a silver stream.

Evidently warm Spring weather has returned to us: furs, muffs, and heavier weight fur-lined and fur be-decked clothing is rapidly being taken out of moth balls and strutted about on the campus. We hope that you girls passed a chilly winter and will enjoy the discomfort of an over-clothed Spring and Summer season.

Here's a good tip for those who insist that the superior officers are lacking in initiative and intelligence: If the boss were any smarter, you'd be out of a job and it may benefit you to remember that it's a great satisfaction to know that you did your best even if you don't get the degree that you thought you had been working for.

An easy observation: We can tell that the women have realized, at last, that old-fashioned hard times are on deck, because the number of fresh-looking permanent waves seems to have decreased noticeably with the advent of this long-awaited Spring weather.

Perhaps you have a 1 o'clock class on Thursday, or perhaps you don't turn on your radio at that time, or perhaps you don't even have a radio, but, if you have one, and if you turn it on at WHAS at the above specified hour, you will hear the voice of none other than Ruby Dunn (in the Dunn and Baxter program) whom we would like to make known to those who may not have had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

In this vast world of peroxides, platinum, and such, Miss Dunn is a natural blonde. Her formerly sisters say that she is more than adept at curling the back of her hair on a hot curling iron without burning herself. She has very clear blue eyes and looks straight at you when she is talking to you.

She plays the piano, the violin, and sings. It is only natural then, and to be expected, that when she entered from Cynthiana in '31 she should pursue a course of study wherein she would be rewarded after four years of labor, with a B. S. in music.

She is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, belongs to Strollers, sings, and plays the violin, in the Glee club and the Philharmonic orchestra, respectively. Ruby is fond of tennis, but her great love in this huge world is potatoes. She told us personally that she just had to have them.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

Pressbox's statements about the need of improvement to the track made in the last issue of The Kernel have caused considerable comment. Mr. Thomas Boyd of the building and grounds departments, in reference to our remarks about work on the track, wrote us a very illuminating letter in which he explained the financial status of his department.

All columnists at times have to admit they are wrong and we take this opportunity to tell our readers that we were mistaken about the facilities available for the use on the track. Mr. Boyd says that his department is willing to use all their limited resources to put the track in shape and to put the tennis courts in condition if the athletic department desires them to do so. "Daddy" Boles, athletic director, says he is willing to do all in his power to put the track in as good condition as possible. There is no doubt that the boys on the track team deserve the consideration, if possible. They are compelled to train harder and more intensely than the candidates for any other sport. The track on Stoll field is a very poor one, and many high schools have superior tracks. When the financial crisis lifts a little the campaign to develop a new track should be inaugurated.

We wish to commend Mr. Boyd for his willingness to do all he can to improve the property and equipment of the University. If the athletic department is willing to pay the grounds department for work on the track, then the work should be done immediately, but a transference of funds is necessary before such work can be done.

Continuation of our paragraph "Will Honors Never Cease." For the second straight year "Aggie" Sale, retiring captain of the Wildcat basketball team, has been named all-American by Les Gage, sports editor of College Humor. It is an honor that comes to but few players, and the University is justly proud of the Lawrenceburg net star. Ellis Johnson, all-Southern guard, and named all-American by Frank Lane and other prominent sports officials, received honorable mention on the College Humor team.

Coach Adolph Rupp, tutor of the Southeastern conference champions and producer of two other great Wildcat net teams, is hard at work again with his ball players. Every afternoon now for several weeks the Kansan will drill future Big Blue stars. A day or two ago he said, "You can't tell, I wouldn't be at all surprised to win the championship again next year."

It seems to us that all the competitors in intramural sports are not given an even break. At the beginning of the present year Hackensmith allowed the Independent A. C. a limited number of men from which to pick the various entrants for the events. The intramural director stated he would allow the independent manager to add or subtract names if any of the boys dropped out of school or became unable to compete.

But when manager Recano of the Independent A. C. asked to remove the names of men who had ceased to compete or had left school, he was told that he could put in a few, but could not expand the group to its original strength.

The fraternities have an average membership of 35 or 40 men, each of whom has been picked for his talents. All members of the fraternity are allowed to compete and any additional pledges are accepted as being eligible.

We suggest that a new system be inaugurated. Let each greek organization enter 40 men, and the Independents a like number. At the beginning of each semester, a new list will be made and no one not on that list would be allowed to compete during the course of that term of school. Any new pledges secured by Frats or new men recruited by the Independents could not be entered until the next semester.

BIG BLUE PLAYS ALUMNI BOYS APRIL 7

Kentucky's Big Blue football squad will hang up their uniforms for the last time this Spring on April 7, after more than two months of practice. The Wildcats will round out their Spring practice sessions with a game with the Alumni on Stoll field, April 7. The Spring practice sessions have been held every afternoon, weather permitting, since the beginning of the second semester. The team has shown decided improvement throughout the two months of practice and it is believed that next season Kentucky will put the best team on the field that has represented her in recent years.

Last season's freshman squad, on which Coach Gamage is basing a lot of hope, has rapidly responded to coaching and several of its members have developed so well that they are certain of securing positions on Kentucky's first string next season.

Several changes have been made in the positions of the respective players and Coach Gamage now has several choices of good men for each position. Bolton has been shifted from the end position to a tackle berth and Olah has been shifted to center.

It is not definitely known yet who will represent the Alumni in their game with the Wildcats, but among the probable ones that will be on hand for the game are: "Shipwreck" Kelly, "Babe" Wright, Dick Richards, "Floppy" Forquer, Ellis Johnson, Darrell Darby, Gayle Mohny, "Bo" Myers, Bill Luther, Frank Seale, Cary Spleer, Connie Rose, George Yates, Jake Bronston, Gilb, and several other prominent members of former Kentucky teams.

The Kentucky men will play as they have ranked themselves in the elimination matches which have been going on during the past few weeks. Rankings for this match are Howard Wilson, number one; Don Braden, number two; K. P. Smith, number three; Turner Howard, number four; George Yost, number five; and Roger Klein, number six. There will be five singles and two doubles matches. The doubles will probably be composed of Wilson and Smith, team number one, and Yost and Klein, number two.

Coaches and Faculty to Meet in Annual Battle

Professors Challenge Coaches To Basketball Game In April

By J. R. WELLS
As a result of the annual challenge extended to the University Coaches' basketball team by the Faculty team, a game is being arranged to be played in the Alumni gym about the middle of April. This game is expected to even out the struggle held last year.

As you remember the coaches trampled the Faculty last year by the overwhelming score of 16-7. The spirit of the Faculty is burning high this year. The Coaches have lost their stellar player of last year, "Admiral Skipper" Frank Mann, who will be out of the strife because of domestic reasons. Admiral Mann was the most enthusiastic of the coaches' squad, and his prowess and enthusiasm will be missed, and sorely needed this year. Gayle Mohny, celebrated coach of the Faculty team, will take his boys into training immediately and expects to have them in the "pink" of condition by game time.

This year the Faculty and Coaches' hands will be one of the main features of the battle. The many talented musicians which are found in the University will display their ability and many classic compositions such as "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here," and many other ditties of similar calibre will be played.

Doctor Allen of the physiology department, has challenged Coach Hackensmith to a wrestling match which will be held—if the challenge is accepted—immediately before the game or between the halves. This should be an item of intense interest as the weights are "so" nearly the same. Both teams have promised that this bout will not be a farce and that the much looked-for spurring of blood and the grunts and groans will all be present.

The instigators of the basketball battle are trying to get an "honest to goodness" referee. Arrangements are being made to acquire the services of Frank Lane, the all-American mentor of Cincinnati. If these fail, Coach Rupp will probably referee the melee.

Prof. Henri Beaumont of the psychology department challenges anyone to compete with him in another peanut selling contest. Prof. R. D. McIntyre need not apply. Professor Beaumont is "brushing up" on his psychology and is feeling confident since he has excluded Professor McIntyre from the contest. He says, "Remember 'Beaumont's Nuts.'" Professor McIntyre thinks that he is right.

The Coaches have several new recruits which include Frank Seale and Dick Richards. These new men are expected to enhance the squad tremendously. The power of the Coaches is to be vested in the peerless William Hansen who, according to Dr. R. S. Allen, is showing marked improvement since he has been put on the cod liver oil diet.

ILLUSION:

A "strong man" once gave public performances in which he stopped a 9 lb. cannon ball shot from a fully charged cannon. The audience gasped when the gun flashed and the human Gibraltar stepped forward out of the smoke uninjured, with the 9 lb. shot in his hands.

EXPLANATION:

The trick lay in the way an assistant prepared the cannon for the performance. He used the regulation amount of powder and wadding, but placed the greater part of the charge of powder ahead of the shot. The cannon ball was propelled only by the small charge behind it which was just sufficient to lob the 9 lb. ball over to the strong man.

A performance sometimes staged in cigarette advertising is the illusion that cigarettes are made easy on the throat by some special process of manufacture.

EXPLANATION: All cigarettes are made in almost exactly the same way. Manufacturing methods are standard and used by all. A cigarette is only as good as the tobacco it contains.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

In costly tobaccos you will find mildness, good taste, throat-ease. Smoke Camels critically, and give your taste a chance to appreciate the greater pleasure and satisfaction offered by the more expensive tobaccos. Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.
